

Is there a relationship between water salinity & water temperature? Can you predict the water temperature based on salinity?